

REMARKS

Upon reviewing the corrected Notice of Allowance dated January 3, 2008, which included certain Examiner's amendments that were not included in the original Notice of Allowance, applicants have noted that two errors exist. First, the Examiner has changed to the term "and is formed by" in claims 1 and 6 to "; wherein said polyester polyamide polyol is formed by". Applicants did not authorize this revision to the claims and the language was not correct from a technical standpoint and was not in agreement with the specification. The second error was a typographical mistake. For these reasons, an Amendment Under 37 C.F.R. §1.312 was filed on January 23, 2008, to return the first noted error in the claims to the original language and to correct the typographical mistake.

On February 26, 2008, the Examiner called the undersigned attorney to discuss the Amendment. She stated that she understood the reason why the Amendment had been filed, but requested a further revision to the claims to recite that it was the polyamide unit that was prepared by the reaction of the polybasic acid and polyamine. The Examiner also requested that this revision be implemented by the filing of a further Amendment. This was agreed to and as a result the instant Amendment has been filed. This Amendment supersedes the Amendment filed on January 23, 2008, which is understood will not be entered. The instant Amendment revises the language that was amended in the Examiner's Amendment accompanying the corrected Notice of Allowance dated January 3, 2008, to the wording agreed to during the telephonic discussion and also corrects the minor typographical error that was included in the prior Amendment.

For the foregoing reasons and in accordance with the discussion with the Examiner, applicants respectfully submit that the amendments in claims 1 and 6 are proper in all respects and should be entered.

Should the Examiner wish to discuss any aspect of the present matter, the Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned attorney at the number provided below.

Respectfully submitted,

BUCHANAN INGERSOLL & ROONEY PC
